

Bart Geerts

University of Wyoming, Laramie, WY

Bart Geerts is a Professor at the Department of Atmospheric Science at the University of Wyoming. He received his PhD from the University of Washington in 1990, and worked in Australia and in Europe for several years. His research deals with orographic and convective precipitation systems.