How Do You Map?

While many of you have probably seen and tried out the new mapping software, have you seen all of the features? Also for those who are newer to CoCoRaHS, here are some of the features you can see on the map.

- 1) You can pick a single day or a date range.
- 2) You can share with friends! If there is a specific map image that you would like to show someone you can click on copy link to map.
- 3) You can overlay all sorts of reports, not just precipitation. In addition to precipitation and snowfall information you can also map significant weather and hail reports as well.
- 4) Are you an evening reporter and don't see yourself on the map? The map is defaulted to show reports between 4:30-9:30am, however if you report another time of day you can change the time the map shows to show your report.
- 5) Look at all those values! Want to be able to zoom out and still see the CoCoRaHS precipitation numbers? You can do that by changing the label display level.
- 6) Like different colors? Did you know you can even change the color display of precipitation on the map?

All of these things are possible with the CoCoRaHS mapping system and are just a click away at www.CoCoRaHS.org.

What Do You Use CoCoRaHS Data For?

There are so many users and uses of CoCoRaHS data. Some people who use CoCoRaHS data include teachers, students, media, farmers, emergency managers, FEMA, turf and landscape professionals, hydrologists, city utilities, engineers, the National Weather Service and many others including you! How do you use CoCoRaHS data? Email Ashley.Novak@noaa.gov how you use CoCoRaHS data and we will have a list of the uses by our CoCoRaHS observers in the next newsletter. No personal information such as name/location will be utilized. At my house I utilize CoCoRaHS data to see when I need to water my flowers and garden, what about you?

Diamond Dendrite Award

Special welcome to the Diamond Dendrite award level for this observer that has submitted 5,000 daily precipitation amounts. Award certificates will be sent via email soon.

Summer 2022 Honor Roll

From June 1, 2022 through August 31, 2022, these Ohio stations reported everyday. Here are those stations who get a thumbs up for their dedication!

Not listed below, but thought you reported everyday? You can check your reports. There are multiple ways to do this. You can go into your account and click on list/edit my daily precipitation reports. This will show your reports everyday. You can also go into 'view data' at the top of the page and click on 'station precipitation summary report.' Input your station and the period of interest. The missing days will be shown with dash marks. If there are additional questions e-mail Ashley.Novak@noaa.gov.

From wet conditions to dry conditions. Condition monitoring reports are helpful no matter the condition. If you go to your account, you will see the condition monitoring report form on the left hand side. Whether it is your first condition monitoring report or your 100th one, there are lots of helpful information guides on the form to help you through how to report.
