

CoCoRaHS Headquarters : Support update

Henry Reges – CoCoRaHS National Coordinator
Nolan Doesken – CoCoRaHS Founder

A question asked down thru the ages: How is CoCoRaHS supported?

Looks it's the CoCoRaHS
Annual Fundraiser!
I love their t-shirts!

Do any of you gents know?

"I have been a CoCoRaHS member for over 15 years and appreciate all that this organization is about. A great asset!"

Other projects directly or indirectly involving CoCoRaHS

- NIDIS Intermountain West Drought Early Warning System (continued support for condition monitoring) – note that NIDIS support wasn't counted in the numbers above (primarily Henry Reges)
- Citizen-Enabled Aerosol Measurements for Satellites (CEAMS), NASA-funded project led by John Volckens at CSU (Noah Newman and Nolan Doesken contribute to citizen science aspects of this project)
- NSF-funded “Spotty Rain” project (Noah Newman)
- NSF-funded “Water in the Four Corners” project (Noah Newman)
- Microsoft AI for Earth grant of cloud computing resources (Julian Turner)

And let's not forget the thousands of volunteer hours and other types of in-kind support!

- Over 250 state/regional volunteer coordinators
- WeatherYourWay.com
- Each volunteer's daily observation Wow!
- KRESL Design – our shirt & logo graphic design
- Many others

Other potential funding sources going forward

- Data users outside of Colorado
- Other research or education grants?
- More grants for computing resources?
- Send a state climatologist back to compete on Jeopardy?
